

We look after our own.

Now we can look after yours.

Introducing the mechanical service team that understands your needs.

As operators of buses and 4WDs, we found it hard to find a mechanical service provider who understood the demands of our business.

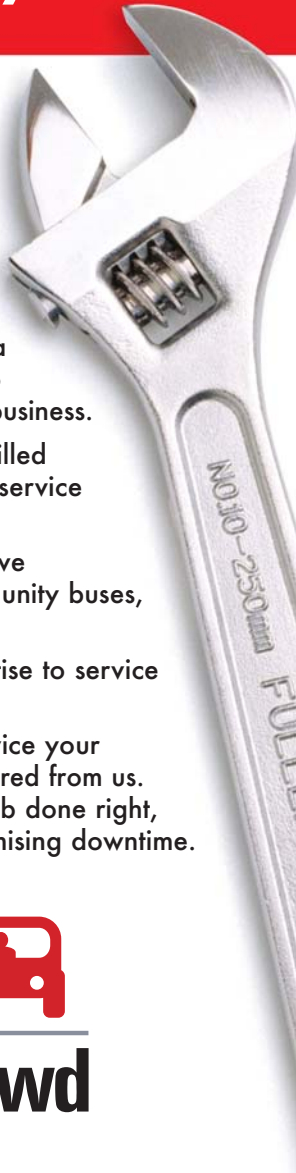

So we found a team of highly skilled technicians and started our own service division.

If you are a tour operator, or have responsibility for school or community buses, that's really good news.

Because our team has the expertise to service all makes and models.

And now we're available to service your vehicle - even if it hasn't been hired from us. We're committed to getting the job done right, first time, every time - and minimising downtime.
